About the Peony Bowl of Beauty

Peonies love a fully sunny spot, with half shade. The Peony Bowl of Beauty blooms from May to June. The stems are very strong and grow straight upwards to 3 feet (90 cm) high. The Peony Bowl of Beauty loves a humus-rich soil which is well-drained. Plant peonies in the border, combine them with other peonies and perennials from De Vroomen. Peonies are hardy, but die every winter and grow back every spring. Just before the young shoots start to grow, cut the old foliage, this makes the peonies grow richer.

The Peony Bowl of Beauty got its name because of the beautiful flower bowl that's filled with enormous color. The lilac, pink, and orange-colored flowers bloom heavily and steal every gardeners'; heart. The incredibly anemone-shaped blossoms are 8"; (20 cm) wide and are densely packed with soft yellow strap-like petals at their heart.
