Growing tulips

Tulips are low-maintenance flowers, making them ideal for landscaping. The flowers originate from mountain areas, making them highly adapted to temperate climates with moderate rainfall. The flowers, therefore, only need to be watered in periods of exceptional drought. For planting the tulip bulbs:

- Plant the Darwin Hybrid Mixed tulip bulbs approximately four inches into the ground;
- Make sure there is at least two inches of space between the flower bulbs;
- Plant tulip bulbs before the first frost, somewhere between september and december.
